

Study on Soft Matters Using Molecular Dynamics

이원보†

서울대학교

(wblee@snu.ac.kr†)

“Soft matter” is an interdisciplinary field that includes polymers and biomaterials. Generally, it deals with condensed matters in which thermal fluctuations are important. Focused on molecular dynamics approach, introduction and characteristics will be an discussed. The method is applied to various physical systems such as polymer composites and (poly)electrolytes.