

Recent issues on the stability in polymer extensional deformation processes

권일영, 정현욱*, 현재천
고려대학교 화공생명공학과
(hwjung@grtrkr.korea.ac.kr*)

Recent issues on the stability and sensitivity in polymer extensional deformation processes will be reviewed. Theoretical and numerical developments on these processes will be discussed. Also, the effect of process conditions on the stability will be systematically compared, focusing on the role of viscoelasticity, cooling, and crystallinity.